Honorable Council,

We are so close to at least attempting to potentially saving this persons life Monday.

Please take a moment to really look at this picture. This individual is standing in the roadway without a single reflector, light, or visible marker. Any one of these cars could have struck them without ever seeing them.

As stewards of this city, we have a responsibility to protect the people who cannot protect themselves. This isn't political. It isn't about sides. It's about basic human safety and dignity.

No matter how anyone votes, the same voices that yell in chamber halls at you today will yell at you again tomorrow on a different issue. But the consequences of inaction here are irreversible.

Let's not wait for a third tragedy to force our hands,

Ryan Halpern
